AT A GLANCE

Green Diplomat, in brief.

Green Diplomat is an independent climate diplomacy initiative that bridges science, diplomacy and policy to turn climate ambition into enforceable law.

ABOUT GREEN DIPLOMAT

Climate commitments are announced in a day and legislated over years. Green Diplomat shows, with sources, which commitments have become enforceable law, and trains the people who make that happen. It was founded in 2023 by Hatim Aznague.

Green Diplomat takes no campaign positions; its work is the instruments, the evidence and the people who draft them.

OPEN TOOLS

What you can use today.

PLATFORM

AI Policy Radar

A verified tracker of climate legislation: what has crossed into force, at what legal stage, and how we know. Every record cites the document it was checked against and the date it was last verified.

DATA

Climate Data Hub

Figures from neutral international sources (World Bank, UNFCCC, IPCC, IRENA, OECD, WMO), charted with their method and source, and free to download.

WORKING TOGETHER

Four ways to use Green Diplomat.

Public outputs are free for everyone, including every government.

Use the open tools

The Radar, the Data Hub and the glossary are free, with no account; the Academy is free for registered learners. The records are open data under CC BY 4.0.

THE FOUNDER

Hatim Aznague

Hatim Aznague is a climate diplomat and strategic-foresight practitioner. He founded Green Diplomat in 2023 to close the gap between climate data and enforceable climate policy. A doctoral researcher at the Autonomous University of Barcelona (UAB), he is a recipient of the United Nations SDG Action Award in the Mobilizer category. His work spans climate and multilateral diplomacy and strategic foresight.

Green Diplomat is an independent initiative. Views expressed are personal and do not represent any employer, institution, or government.
